"HAMLET'S BLACKBERRY" THOUGHTS FOR ADVENT AND CHRISTMAS

I love reading a certain newspaper and its book review. One book caught my eye recently with this title. It is by William Powers. The sub title is "A practical philosophy for building a good life in the digital age". It is a fabulous book and very thought provoking. It is a good book for this time of year too. It is a very spiritual book. At the core is an argument which says life now is all about connection but we have forgotten how to disconnect. Anyone who has seen the Social Network movie especially knows about the power of connection! The writer of this book however says we need to learn how to be disconnected and that disconnection is equally important.

It has bothered me for some time that many people seem so preoccupied with technology, cell phones and computers especially. The art of being focused and respectful and giving people the benefit of a non technologically interrupted eye ball to eyeball conversation is becoming a dying art. Ringing and buzzing of gadgets can be seen to be so often an intrusion robbing life of quality attentiveness. The desire to be connected is out of control. The writer says that emails especially tap into our private space and can crowd out and affect the life of the soul. Through technology the human need for internal quietness, not being pre occupied and the desire for mental space and room for the soul to thrive, is attacked left right and center. He argues that disconnecting from technology is of equal importance to connecting.

Technology and connectedness are gifts if under our intentional control and thoughtful usage. They can benefit people, churches and business of course. These can all also have such negative "soul consequences" in terms of impairing focus and how it can crowd out precious time for soul development, personal creativity and relationship development between persons. This Advent and Christmas let us be creative with preserving our mental and emotional and thus our soul space. Can I suggest we think about some of these questions at this time of year:

- Do I need to send this email or text or phone call?
- What about talking with the person "in person" instead?
- Do we think about the existing email box of those we send email to and how much is already there?
- Do we need to send all the emails we do?
- Do we think about the tone of what we send and its length?
- Does email and phone use foster a respect for people and their lives?
- Do we think about how the person may be feeling in receipt of our email or message and how might our email impact them?
- Do we think about how a hand-written positive lovely and encouraging letter/postcard can lift someone's spirit and touch them deeply?
- E cards are may be an exception rather than an alternative. Would we rather have a home made card from someone than something across the internet especially if made by young relatives and the card dripping in glitter?
- Do I need to use technology less for my spiritual health? For my well being? Is it crowding out precious time and making us too preoccupied?
- Let us ask ourselves whether we are as vigilant with praying as we are with using technology?
- Is technology helping our spiritual life and spiritual development or hindering it?

CONFIRMATION OF OLIVIA BROWN

Fr. Simon, Oliva Brown (center), Bishop Larry, family and guests

at St. John's begins during Lent as per the tradition of the Ancient Church. Confirmands are expected to attend a service on Ash Wednesday and they will then be enrolled in Confirmation Preparation on the following Sunday (the first Sunday in Lent). The age for Confirmation in our Diocese has been lowered to 13, but remains at the discretion of the local priest. It is more important that the confirmand be able to express a mature faith than be of the exact age.

When the priest who is preparing the confirmands is satisfied that they express a mature faith and are ready to be presented to the bishop, the priest will let the parents know of the next upcoming confirmation date given by the Diocese of Long Island (Either October or May, traditionally). Bishop Provenzano will now also be celebrating confirmations in individual parishes, but it is unlikely that he will be at St. John's of Lattingtown in the next 18 months.

A schedule of confirmation preparation sessions will be available in the Spring prior to enrollment. Thanks very much for your interest in Confirmation Preparation at St. John's of Lattingtown.

Watch the parish bulletin and website for details of a new bi-weekly weekday program beginning in the New Year. For our younger members this will be part of their on going confirmation preparation. In our parish adults and young people will be enrolled together as candidates for confirmation on Ash Wednesday at any of the services held in the parish that day and young people's confirmation preparation will continue until their confirmation itself. It is hoped that our new group will act as a key group for those young people who seek confirmation as well as those who want to belong to a lively youth group. S+

DANNY DAVISON ~ REST IN PEACE

The parish said farewell recently to faithful parishioner, friend and vestry person who died since our last Eagle publication. The Rector and Assistant Rector had the privilege of being alongside Danny and Katusha and the Davison family as Danny passed into God's closer presence. Danny died peacefully and full of faith after his illness and in dying as in life he was an example of what it means to be a Christian. We will miss Danny and offer our condolences to Katusha and all the family. May our living and dying speak of the same love of God, spirituality and faithfulness of this most faithful servant of God and God's Church. Simon+

- Would we be better praying more and in silence with God and spending less time on the computer firing emails?

- Is God sending us the equivalent of a spiritual email with a red exclamation mark saying URGENT: Spiritual development, soul development needed!

This Advent and Christmas I am going to be on a retreat and disconnect from as much technology as possible for the good of my soul and that of others. I shall use it essentially and very sparingly. Jesus managed and the disciples did and they were very effective communicators and community builders too. This will be my spiritual discipline.

If you are a parishioner who does not like some of technologies impact be encouraged and let us have a dialogue as parishioners and pilgrims on the good and bad of technology. In the parish we have established a Technology for Mission Development Group where we shall be putting technology to the service of God's mission here to enhance spirituality and connection. We are not promoting salvation by technology but in the service of the spiritual.

Barney the Golden retriever and I wish you from the Rectory an Advent, Christmas and New Year that are good and give space for soul things, nourishing things that help everyone of us to be more present, more thoughtful, more loving and more prayerful. Disconnection has spiritual value not only connection! Let's value both and show that we do!

Happy Advent, Christmas & New Year from the Rectory

VETERANS VISIT ST JOHN'S

Locust Valley veterans from the American Legion, Howard Van Wagner Post, #962, were part of a special Veteran's Day service recently at St John's of Lattingtown.

Commander Robert Snyder (retired) said a few words in support of all veterans and presented Rev Simon Foster with a certificate of appreciation which read "In recognition and sincere appreciation of outstanding service and assistance which contributed to the advancement of The American Legion programs and activities dedicated to God and Country."

144TH ANNUAL DIOCESAN CONVENTION

The 144th Convention of the Diocese of Long Island took place on a fine weekend in November. I was the lay delegate from your parish and I can report that “The sun is shining high over the entire Diocese.”

I was alone amongst hundreds of people since Father Simon was a managing official on the dias and Father Michael was a teller for the numerous votes required to fill the positions for elective office. I wasn’t lonely, just alone, which gave me the chance to observe, listen, concentrate and communicate without distraction.

Several practical and legal matters were addressed and voted on. Although they are important to the functioning of the Diocese, I won’t report on them. I found the spirituality filling the room much more interesting...and important. I can report three incidents that may explain it. However there was an intangible element that can only be described as fresh air blowing through our diocese which, I think, I just can’t explain. You decide.

Our Diocese (all of Long Island) has “Companion Diocese Relationships.” Our last Companion Diocese Relationship has ended. Bishop Provenzano believes that developing companion relations “across provincial borders, as part of the process of developing the cross-cultural nature of communion” is an “important part of our mission strategy.” The idea is that we, from our position of relative safety and prosperity, share the knowledge of Christ to strengthen the people in oppressed areas who seek the love of Christ, against all odds.

The first companion is the Diocese of Torit in the Sudan, represented by it’s Bishop, accompanied by his wife in a beautiful African dress. Bishop Oringa, in good English, asked us to pray for them. In that war torn country they want to become a separate nation so they can be free and peaceful. How can they do that, be free and peaceful? It seems that their best bet now is to use the energy within the soul, to pray. The youth of Sudan, in Torit, are tired of war. The women rely on the Bible to fight the devil so there is peace. The sharing we can do is through the spirit, not our dollars. In strengthening them we will strengthen our selves. Nothing lost and a lot gained.

The second new companion Diocese is that of Ecuador Central. Bishop Luiz Ruiz, speaking through an interpreter, relayed that his Diocese has 21 parishes and 16 missions made up of indigenous people. He explained that years ago Peruvians and Columbians came as immigrants. They remain so, so poor; they have a very hard life. He believes that they need special pastoral care to give them hope. Education is the great need to give opportunity to live out of their impoverished isolated state. He will ordain a woman next year who has been asking for twenty years only to be rejected. They are essentially forgotten, but they take to the Episcopal church and derive hope from it. I saw missionary work in a whole new light...helping people achieve the spirituality that they want.

After addresses by the Honored Guests from the Companion Dioceses, Bishop Provenzano celebrated the Eucharist and addressed us. He began by saying this is a manifestation of his dream to be a pastor of ONE diocese. Don’t think he’s sitting in a plush office in Garden City. He’s on us! His focus is on duty, stewardship and mission. He has, or will, visit all parishes (even one with only 12 families I’m told) who have not been visited.

His direction to all of us is to act as missionaries to show some, to introduce to others, the love of Christ. If we do he promises that we will be proud of our mission. It won’t be done with huge budgets, Bishops or complexity, or serving the needs of an antiquated structure, but with our love of serving God’s people were we find them. Tithing is still in, yet it’s a truth that money always follows mission.

The Bishop gave us all pins saying: “One Diocese One God One Dominion One Mission.” With him we are living together in the cause of Christ. So be it.

58TH ANNUAL COUNTRY FAIR

It was a perfect September day for the 58th annual St John's Country Fair. People came out in record numbers to partake of the various opportunities for family fun. Several new booths were added this year, balloons, ice cream, fudge and Spin Art tie dye T shirts, along with the traditional booths that have become part of the history of the fair. Parishioners and the community came together to make the fair a big success. For many years parishioners have worked hard for months prior to the fair to create a memorable day.

Rev Simon Foster, Rector of St John's, officially opened the fair at 10am with a prayer. Fair Chairperson Victoria Crosby introduced Glen Cove High School sophomore Sabrina Ali who sang 'America The Beautiful.' Later in the morning the Gordon Highlanders paraded and played rousing bagpipes.

This year the church returned to the tradition of a story book theme of Alice in Wonderland, which was evident in the large cut outs from the recent version of the film starring Johnny Depp, placed around the tents. Church volunteers wore Alice in Wonderland stickers that said

"We're all quite mad, you'll fit right in."

Some of the younger girls dressed as Alice and, several adults wore Mad Hatter hats and there was at least one white rabbit. There was a parade of those dressed in character to the music from the Disney film. The music of the day was provided by Master of Ceremonies, St John's Music Director, Eric Milnes.

The Silent Auction, Cream of the Crop, Peddlers Market are very most popular booths with adults, as is the Books tent which has grown over recent years to add CD's DVD's and vinyl records. Handmades has also grown to include Christmas items. Children's clothes, books and toys were plentiful as were Sporting Goods, Jewelry and Furniture.

There were new children's games in addition to bouncy rides and a magic show in the afternoon, with plenty of food at breakfast and lunch allowed families to make it a whole day's outing. The Drum Circle has become a very popular tradition, not only with children but adults too.

Funds raised by the church fair help support outreach, and in the past have donated to the North Shore Sheltering Program and the Glen Cove Soup Kitchen among others.

FAIR THANK YOU PARTY

A thank you cocktail party was held recently in the Parish Hall at St John's of Lattingtown for the parishioners who had helped to make the St John's 58th annual fall fair such a huge success. A DVD by Barry Rivadue was playing, showing highlights of the fair.

Chairperson of the Silent Auction, Gerda Andersen, was honored for her many years of dedication and tireless work. Rev Simon Foster and Fair Chairperson Victoria Crosby presented Gerda with a certificate of appreciation. The Silent Auction traditionally has the largest revenue of the fair and this year made $30,000. In 2011 Gerda will step down as Chairperson, but continue to work on fine jewelry and art. Katherine Marshall will become the Silent Auction Chairperson.

The fair gross income is $92,039. The fair expense is $21,000. The net thus far is $71,038. Victoria and Gerda as Vestry members and Outreach Chairs have met with Rev Foster to discuss the disbursements of the funds, which will be further discussed at Agape meetings.

THANK YOU FATHER MICHAEL

On November 21st the parish family said goodbye to our Assistant Rector Father Michael Sniffen after his three and a half years among us. Bishop Frank Griswold was with us that day too and we thanked God for Michael and his gifts and ministry here and thanked God for Bishop Frank's ministry as Twenty Fifth Presiding Bishop of The Episcopal Church. We also baptized Tucker Flaim, son to Ben and Kate Flaim who had been married here. We had a wonderful celebration morning with festive refreshments to follow.

"Father Michael was the right assistant rector for the right time in parish history and we have so benefited from Michael's skills as a preacher of the Gospel of love and justice, as skilled teacher, for his youth ministry oversight and as a pastor. We are all going to miss him but wish him and Joanna his wife who we will also miss much, a happy and grace filled time at St Luke and St Matthew Brooklyn " said Fr Simon our Rector.

"Thank you Fr Michael for the privilege of having you here and for the blessing you have been to your rector as colleague and friend and to so many. We assure you of our prayers and look forward to visiting your new parish and to welcoming you back at St. John's."

Much work has gone on intentionally in planning for this transition to enable all ministries to continue that Fr Michael had oversight responsibility for. Fr Simon our Rector said " I and the Bishop and our Vestry are prayerfully discerning the way ahead in terms of the lay and ordained ministerial shape for the future for the parish's on going continued growth and development under my leadership and as a place for mission, education and outreach."

THOUGHTS FROM THE ROAD

It has been a pleasure to share thoughts and reflections on the seasons and my own faith journey in each edition of the Eagle over these past 3 years. My articles have been titled, "Thoughts from the Gatehouse." Now that I have moved out of the Gatehouse and have not quite moved into the Rectory in Clinton Hill, it seems appropriate to share some "thoughts from the road."

Moving is certainly a dramatic experience that requires a great deal of physical, emotional and spiritual energy. Joanna and I have found this to be true! I find many connections between the experience of moving and the season of Advent. Now that we are at the "unpacking" stage here in Brooklyn, we are discovering things we forgot we had and enjoying them all over again! Each box seems to have a few surprises (most of them, pleasant). We are putting many of our possessions to new use and discovering where they might fit into our new lives. During the season of Advent, we are invited by the Church to unpack things we have not paid attention to in a while and discover how God is moving in our lives in new ways. Is there a box somewhere in your internal life that you have not looked into for a while? Is there a relationship you would like to spend time healing? Is there a favorite pastime that you have not enjoyed for too long? Now is the time to pay attention to these things. As God moves closer to humanity in the incarnation, we are encouraged to participate in the freedom and new life that Christ offers us. Preparing for Christ's arrival by rediscovering the blessings we have packed away is a worthwhile exercise.

As I continue to unpack boxes both literal and figurative, I find myself so grateful for the people in my life who have encouraged me to be faithful to God and to myself on the pilgrim road. I thank all of you for the wonderful send off from St. John's on November 21st. The service and the reception were uplifting, empowering and a sign that Christ is indeed moving among us even as we prepare to receive him more fully this Christmas. Thank you for your generosity toward me and Joanna in the parish leaving gift. We are so grateful to you. Until we meet again, may God hold you in the palm of God's hand.

Your partner in unpacking the Good News,

Michael+

PARISH HALL DINNER THEATER RESOUNDING HIT!

One hundred and twenty people filled the Parish Hall on November 7th as Eric Milnes and the choir of St. John's presented the inaugural program of "Music at St. John's" for this church year. A wonderful, home-made Italian feast preceded the musical presentation, as we crowded around tables to enjoy the delicious offerings prepared by all members of the choir and Mary Williams, Jan Hagner and Sue McFarlane.

Excerpts from Broadway shows spanning 5 decades provided a delectable smorgasbord of musical treats.

Highlights were Kathryn Harlow's personally adapted rendition of "All That Jazz", Duncan Naylor's swinging take on "Mack the Knife," Carla Beale charming all with "I Feel Pretty" and Victoria Crosby's moving performance of "You Will Never Walk Alone." A surprise solo singing debut at St. John's came from The Reverend Michael Sniffen, a memory we will cherish as he moves on to his next calling. The professional soloists and full choir ensemble demonstrated, once again, what a treasure we have at St. John's, as these vocalists help lead our worship each Sunday morning.

The responding consensus was, "MORE, MORE, MORE!"

So, the choir invites you to our next Music at St. John's event, again, in the Parish Hall, a Christmas Cabaret. It will be a seasonal mix of Holiday refreshments, Christmas caroling, and of course, more musical delights from the choir, soloists, and Eric Milnes, our director. Sunday, December 19th, 7:00 pm.

A suggested donation of $20.00 makes it all possible. Will you please join us? And do let the office (671-3226) know you intend to come. It will help us make the preparations which will insure a wonderful Christmas fellowship opportunity for all!

We miss St. Johns! We miss you! We promise to attend mass when we are able to spend Saturday evenings over "Grandma" and "Grandpa's" house.

We thank you once again for such a joyous Christening of my daughter Sky Liang. Our friends and family members could not say enough about how special your sermon was and how connected & included they all felt as a result of your words and sentiments.

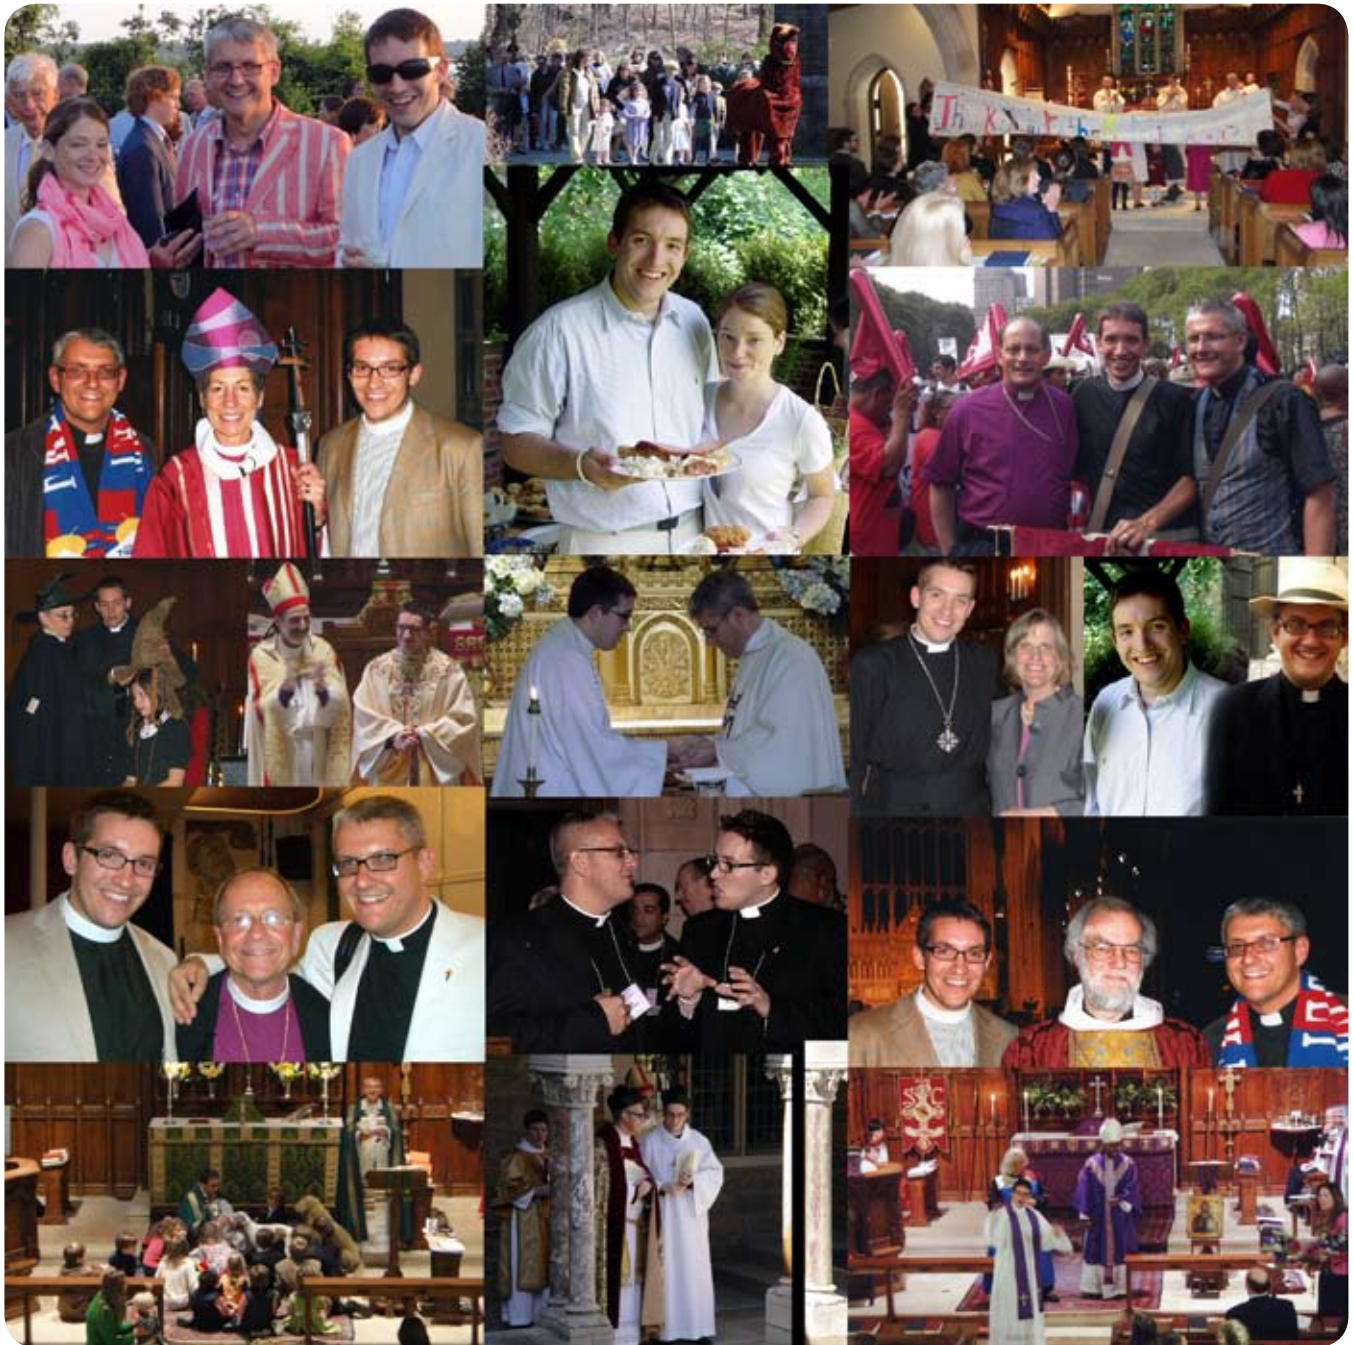

We look forward to seeing you in the near future and continue the spiritual life that you initiated for our Sky. She is happy to be a member of God's family and our home discussions and prayer and bible readings continue to fascinate and inspire her.

God bless you and yours. We look forward to seeing you at services! Love, Barbara Hadjiargyrou

ST JOHN'S BIDS FAREWELL TO REV. MICHAEL SNIFFEN

Rev. Michael Sniffen, who grew up in Bayville, and has been Assistant Rector at St John's Episcopal Church of Lattingtown for more than three years, is now the Priest-in-Charge at St Luke and St Matthew Episcopal Church in Brooklyn. His last Sunday at St John's, the Sunday before Thanksgiving, was a celebration of his ministry. The Right Reverend Frank T. Griswold, former Presiding Bishop and former Bishop of Chicago, was visiting St John's that day, and gave the sermon. The Rector, Simon Foster, thanked Michael for his years as Assistant Rector and his work in the parish, particularly with the Sunday school, his innovative programs and youthful enthusiasm. Following the service Father Michael was presented with a gift from the church and a large cake was served which said "Thanks Be to God."
